Attachment 2 DS-11 (Tourist Application)

Attachment 3 SS-5 (Social Security Application)

Attachment 4 Proof of Physical Presence

Introduction:

If you are a US citizen and the parent of a child born outside of the United States, you will need to document your child's US citizenship with a "Consular Report of Birth Abroad (CRBA." You may also apply for your child's first passport (tourist and social security card when you report your child's birth. A SSN will not be issued unless your baby has a CRBA and a US Passport. A Passport serves as the proof of U.S. Citizenship.

If your baby was born in the U.K., you have to get a U.S. Passport and CRBA for them before they are eligible to travel outside of the U.K. Remember a CRBA is not a travel document. Parents will have the opportunity to complete all three applications (CRBA, Tourist Passport, and SSN at their scheduled appointment, which is highly recommended. This process should start within 30/45 days after the birth of the child.

Emergency Passports:

If you are due to PCS within the next 45 days we recommend that you make plans to visit the US Embassy. The embassy will only schedule an appointment for you if you are five working days from the date of overseas travel. (During the pandemic Please pay attention to the webpage uk.usembassy.gov for updates or contact their email at LondonPassports@state.gov for Emergency Passports.

You are required to bring the long-form birth certificate (stating the name of both parents. Both parents and child must be present during the appointment. If one parent or both parents (biological) are unable to attend they must bring a notarized affidavit DS-3053 to the appointment, as well as a notarized copy of the photo ID from the absent parent/s.

Providing Proof of Physical Presence for a Consular Report of Birth Abroad Application

How do I show that I was "physically present" in the United States prior to my child's birth?

In general, "physical presence" is counted as the time (before the birth of your child) that you were actually physically within the borders of the United States.

- Usually, physical presence does not need to be continuous, and visits of any length to the U.S.A. would count towards fulfilling the physical presence requirement;
- Conversely, any travel outside of the United States, including vacations, must be excluded;
- For purposes of the Consular Report of Birth Abroad (CRBA), it does not matter whether you were in the U.S.A. legally or illegally, or whether you were a U.S. citizen or a visitor to the U.S.A.;
- Time spent overseas for honorable U.S. military service or as the dependent of someone honorably serving in U.S. military often counts, but you will need to provide official records;
- Time spent while employed with the U.S. government or certain international organizations — or as the dependent of someone employed by the U.S. government or certain international organizations — may also count, but you will need to provide official records.

What types of documents may show that I was physically present in the United States?

You are the person who knows what you were doing when you were physically in the United States and may offer any proof you believe shows that you were actually there. You may have documents unique to your case — please feel welcome to provide them. However, some documentation has proven easier for many applicants to obtain, and for consular officers to use:

- Official school transcripts from primary, secondary or university education;
- Current and expired passports (both U.S. and foreign) with evidence of travel to the United States (but be aware that these must show both entries and exits to the U.S.A. — if you have used different passports to enter and exit the U.S.A., your actual travel dates may be difficult to establish);
- Military records of honorable service such as a Military Statement of Service or DD-214 Separation Statement;
- Prison records;

What types of documents do not show that I was physically present in the United States?

- A U.S. driver's license (does not show exactly when you were present in the U.S.A. or for how long);
- A diploma without relevant school transcripts (because a person may have earned or transferred credits from study abroad);
- A lease or mortgage for a residence (many people maintain residences in numerous countries or property abroad for rental purposes);
- Cell phone records;
- General financial statements that do not show your physical U.S. location (many people hold bank accounts around the world without actually spending time in those specific countries);
- Social media records that merely mention being in the U.S.A.;
- Income tax forms without pay stubs or W-2s (taxes can be paid from anywhere in the world).
